A silhouette of a family of four (a man, a woman, and two children) standing on a rocky shore, looking out at a body of water during a vibrant sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a bright orange and yellow glow that reflects on the water. The sky is filled with soft, horizontal clouds. The family is positioned in the foreground, with the man standing and holding a child, the woman standing next to him, and another child sitting on the ground to the right.

Research has shown that dysfunctional family life is the biggest problem, with fatherlessness at the centre of the problem.

In every country the following 4 issues are mentioned as the biggest problems in society. In some cases 3 more are added, namely Drugs, Violence and Unemployment

- 63% of suicides come from fatherless homes
- 80% of rapists motivated by displaced anger come from fatherless homes
- 70% of juveniles in state operated institutions come from fatherless homes
- 40% of all children do not live with their biological fathers.
- 85% of children with behavioural problems come from fatherless homes.
- 90% of homeless children come from fatherless homes.
- 71% of children who do not finish school come from fatherless homes.

...Virtually every major social pathology has been linked to fatherlessness: violent crime, drug and alcohol abuse, truancy, teen pregnancy, suicide – all correlate more strongly to fatherlessness than to any other single factor.

The majority of prisoners, juvenile detention inmates, high school dropouts, pregnant teenagers, adolescent murderers, and rapists all come from fatherless homes.

The connection with fatherlessness is so strong that it erases the relationships between race and crime and between low income and crime....

STEPHAN BASKERVILLE

- Men commit 90 percent of major crimes.
- Men commit 100 percent of rapes.
- Men commit 95 percent of burglaries.
- Men commit 91 percent of the offenses against the family.
- Men comprise 94 percent of drunk drivers.

CHILD AND YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

Nervous System Development

Brain growth in an infant's first year of life is nothing short of remarkable: the brain uses 60% of the total energy consumed by the infant and nearly triples in size. Much of the energy that fuels this growth is supplied by fat in the infant's diet, which is why breast milk is so rich in this nutrient. The child's brain has achieved 80% of its growth by age 2, though cognitive development continues far beyond that time period.

The word "LEGACY" is printed on the card in a bold, black, sans-serif font, oriented vertically. The hands are positioned in the center of the frame, with the background being dark and out of focus. The lighting is soft, highlighting the texture of the skin on the hands.

Daddy, Please Come Home!

This book is an urgent call for all fathers wherever they may be to come back home, responsibility of their children. It looks at the deepest cries of the children without father and outer struggles. At the climax of the book the writer looks at the roots and effects of the and gives a shocking statistics about South Africa having a high rate of fatherless children. It holds. In many cases the family has been redefined, and the father is not even present. Obviously need their fathers and want to spend time with them. Children want the father and not the father's presents.

It is a sobering fact that many of our young people suffer from emotional abandonment. They failed to invest emotionally in them and they grew up angry, not knowing why they are because they were not given what every child needs—emotional intimacy with their father. Validation is so important to children and teenagers, it tells them they have value. Withholding affirming words and appropriate physical affection can be as damaging as no or no words. Children grow up with "holes" in their social skills, communication, and to share with others their deepest and most intimate part of their lives. They try to fit in with big girls of the world and have long-term relationships with other people but are never make things happen.

They bounce in and out of so many projects, jobs, friendships, and social situations, notice their behaviour. They constantly fight the messages from childhood that said, valuable and are stupid, but inside secretly wonder if they are not valuable and really do never able to answer the question what is wrong with me? And why is the rest of the world handle issues successfully but I can't? As you read this book you will develop a strong parenting and you will break with the things that break God's heart. True religion is to fatherless—(widows and orphans). Will you be a father to your children and those who need
